

Over the years, The Ethiopian Medical Journal has published numerous articles on its quarterly issues pertaining to medicine and the field of health sciences. Among the many professionals who have dedicated themselves to this task are our team of Peer-Reviewers.

Below is the list of 2021 reviewers who have made every print of literature professional and informative.

The EMJ would like to send its deepest gratitude for these individuals, as well as the many that have preceded them and the many that will follow.

Thank you!
